

8-B150	ADP	+/-	Name	Notes	9-B150	ADP	+/-
1	2.3	1.3	James Harden	Is there a such thing as a boring No. 1 8-cat pick?	4	1.6	-2.4
2	2	0	Anthony Davis	Upside beyond this but there's a price to pay for risk, possible drama	1	2.2	1.2
3	7.3	4.3	Stephen Curry	Sliding in drafts after sliding for two years. Time for a regression.	3	5.2	2.2
4	7.3	3.3	Karl-Anthony Towns	Drama in Minnesota pending this is where he goes	2	5.9	3.9
5	6	1	Kevin Durant	Only concern is chemistry; KD didn't have great playoffs despite MVP	5	5.7	0.7
6	2.7	-3.3	Giannis Antetokounmpo	Would be nice to see another gear, especially on defensive side	7	3.6	-3.4
7	11.7	4.7	Kawhi Leonard	Rating him as mostly the same guy; year off in athletic prime a mess	6	12.5	6.5
8	3	-5	LeBron James	When LeBron wants to he can still climb (see last season)	9	5	-4
9	17	8	Victor Oladipo	Emerging superstar exploring his ceiling still	10	12.4	2.4
10	7	-3	Russell Westbrook	The knee is probably okay, but game built on explosion a concern	15	9.1	-5.9
11	10	-1	Damian Lillard	You worry about things starting to break down/slow down for Dame.	8	10.1	2.1
12	18	6	Paul George	Some upside beyond this if RW declines and PG needs to step up	12	13.5	1.5
13	8.3	-4.7	Nikola Jokic	DEN has capable and emerging players, maybe full season of Millsap	11	9	-2
14	15.7	1.7	Joel Embiid	For Embiid it's all about the blocks and if he regains his nastiness	17	16.8	-0.2
15	25.3	10.3	Jrue Holiday	Emerging into one of the league's top guards	13	23.1	10.1
16	22.7	6.7	Chris Paul	The upside isn't quite there and HOU will throttle back again this year	14	17.3	3.3
17	19	2	Kyrie Irving	If anything, last season's caution with injuries helped keep miles off.	16	17.3	1.3
18	23	5	Devin Booker	Hand injury aside, he has been given the keys to the franchise	26	25.6	-0.4
19	33.7	14.7	Khris Middleton	Plenty in the tank, consistent and still scratching some upside	19	29.2	10.2
20	13	-7	Ben Simmons	Lotsa variance in outcomes not just for him, but Sixers as a whole	36	15.6	-20.4
21	16	-5	John Wall	A lot to prove this year as an elite player; lotsa question marks in WAS	44	23.7	-20.3
22	21	-1	Kemba Walker	I worry a bit about his knee but production-wise he's safe as it gets	18	16.2	-1.8
23	21.3	-1.7	Donovan Mitchell	Future MVP candidate can climb higher; but this includes improvement	37	17.5	-19.5
24	20	-4	Jimmy Butler	Drama in Minnesota pending this is where he goes	20	23.7	3.7
25	28.3	3.3	Draymond Green	He needs to re-energize his steals rate and keep improving efficiency	31	29.9	-1.1
26	46	20	Eric Bledsoe	You might not like his game but he established his value last season	32	43.2	11.2
27	24	-3	DeMar DeRozan	Similar fit as Kawhi had in SA, he'll run iso offense similarly	24	32.2	8.2
28	18.7	-9.3	Kyle Lowry	Fit next to Kawhi and Toronto depth two reasons to fade him a bit	35	26.1	-8.9
29	48.7	19.7	Deandre Ayton	Ayton looks more than competent to cash in on the PHO situation.	23	64.6	41.6
30	36	6	Marc Gasol	Grinded thru pointless season - a good sign he might do it again	30	37	7
31	27.3	-3.7	Kevin Love	Not quite Minnesota Love, but volume isn't going to be a problem	25	31.6	6.6
32	18	-14	Andre Drummond	Fit next to Blake, FT questions of course. Last year he crushed	33	24.9	-8.1
33	41	8	Clint Capela	He'll improve again this year but the market has caught up	22	36	14
34	26	-8	Bradley Beal	More Wall this season will etch away at his value	41	22.2	-18.8
35	81.3	46.3	Enes Kanter	The Knicks need him and he's pretty easy to peg nowadays	27	81.2	54.2
36	32	-4	Rudy Gobert	I worry about his explosion and declines in areas he's valuable	28	26.5	-1.5
37	116	79	Taurean Prince	The B150 said 41 last season and he finished 45. Drops microphone	53	63	10
38	74	36	Gary Harris	Can he be underrated again this year? Probably	29	47.9	18.9
39	69	30	Jamal Murray	Competition for touches will keep him efficient	55	42.8	-12.2
40	58.3	18.3	Otto Porter	Game doesn't rely on excess touches; I'm still worried about the hip	21	34.8	13.8
41	85.3	44.3	Kris Dunn	Defensive production is most of what we care about here	58	86	28
42	56	14	John Collins	How high can he go? So much (deserved) hype, profit margins be damned	42	50.8	8.8
43	36.7	-6.3	Klay Thompson	If he can get back to the foul line there's upside beyond this	40	28.5	-11.5
44	45.3	1.3	Mike Conley	One had to suspect that MEM would use kid gloves last season	52	48.9	-3.1
45	32	-13	C.J. McCollum	The super tight shooting in his breakout year appears to be outlier	39	30.8	-8.2
46	63	17	Myles Turner	We'll be watching closely to see if he's not fat this season	34	44	10
47	53.3	6.3	Nikola Vucevic	A trade could hurt him but he's also fairly consistent	50	58	8
48	63.3	15.3	Hassan Whiteside	So many question marks; he could drift lower than this	43	72.8	29.8
49	66.3	17.3	Will Barton	Paid to be what he was last season	51	62.5	11.5
50	99	49	Joe Ingles	B150 had Joe at 60 last year. Everybody else had him at 120.	56	60.4	4.4
51	48	-3	Al Horford	Loaded roster isn't helping him in the upside department	45	44.3	-0.7
52	88.3	36.3	Nikola Mirotic	Can go higher than this; just needs to stay healthy and it's his	38	70	32
53	71	18	Jeff Teague	Teague/Thibs might be worth watching after Teague spoke up last year	64	64.9	0.9
54	78.3	24.3	Jonas Valanciunas	I'm not sensing massive breakout but he can plod his way to this	48	76	28
55	93	38	Robert Covington	As official founders of Covington's bandwagon, we just wanted to brag a bit	49	56.2	7.2
56	50	-6	Tobias Harris	A trendy name and a fairly safe mid-round play; profit margin issues	46	37.4	-8.6
57	30	-27	LaMarcus Aldridge	One of the luckiest picks of last season. An entire season as the guy	47	35.4	-11.6
58	80.3	22.3	Dario Saric	Does a lot for the Sixers and might finally get recognized this year	61	79.8	18.8
59	99	40	Josh Richardson	Great year and he handled it last year, but Miami is crowded again	54	64.1	10.1
60	63	3	Zach LaVine	He wants to be the No. 1 and will probably be healthy enough for it	71	65.8	-5.2
61	35.3	-25.7	Blake Griffin	This is high and I might bring it back if I don't see a focus on efficiency	82	42.4	-39.6
62	48.3	-13.7	Lou Williams	We're not gettingt full Lou Williams this season (I don't think)	75	57.4	-17.6
63	40.7	-22.3	Jayson Tatum	His ADP is high for the wrong reasons; but stat set supports value	57	44.3	-12.7
64	124	60	Jeremy Lamb	An HB favorite; can go higher than this	59	145.4	86.4
65	130	65	Buddy Hield	The Kings can screw this up any number of ways; great shooting stats	60	92.8	32.8
66	104	38	Kyle Anderson	Was great last year but new fit means some variance potential	62	91.3	29.3
67	136.7	69.7	Jonathan Isaac	Has untold fantasy upside.	65	104.4	39.4
68	55	-13	Ricky Rubio	A safer mid-round PG that will produce if healthy	113	60.4	-52.6
69	51	-18	Aaron Gordon	Moving away from the hoop not good for Gordon	68	42.8	-25.2
70	80	10	Steven Adams	You worry about the physical pounding he's taken but this is safe	84	71.8	-12.2
71	164.3	93.3	Bobby Portis	Flaws in the stat set but he's going to plod his way to value	69	140.2	71.2
72	53.7	-18.3	Paul Millsap	A lot of reasons to fade Millsap this season (age/miles/production)	85	61.1	-23.9
73	81.7	8.7	Elfrid Payton	Can be better than this but that presumes he can earn starter's mins	91	117.2	26.2
74	96.7	22.7	Tyreke Evans	Finally found a shot. Lower minutes will help keep him upright	81	100	19
75	102.7	27.7	Rondae Hollis-Jefferson	Injuries the only concern; he has taken a beating at PF	73	123.7	50.7
76	92	16	Jarrett Allen	The preseason hype has created a risk/profit margin situation	63	58.1	-4.9
77	132	55	Jaren Jackson	Has some stat set issues but has a nice floor for a rookie	86	100.6	14.6
78	146.7	68.7	Kelly Olynyk	B150 had him at 83 last year, other sites 140, finished at 63	77	127.8	50.8

8-B150	ADP	+/-	Name	Notes	9-B150	ADP	+/-
79	147.7	68.7	Spencer Dinwiddie	He's better than DAR but muddy depth chart could hold him back	76	139.7	63.7
80	137.7	57.7	Kent Bazemore	One of the better players on a really bad team.	88	128.2	40.2
81	58.7	-22.3	Andrew Wiggins	Drama in Minnesota pending this is where he goes	87	81.3	-5.7
82	98	16	Darren Collison	It's not about volume with Collison, who could cruise again this year	66	80	14
83	82.3	-0.7	Tim Hardaway Jr.	Injury concerns are fair; but stat set issues hold him back a bit anyway	74	77.1	3.1
84	61.7	-22.3	Harrison Barnes	Probably the most boring fantasy play in the game today	67	72.6	5.6
85	46.3	-38.7	DeAndre Jordan	Block rate showed an overweight player lacking explosion last year	80	52	-28
86	41.3	-44.7	Gordon Hayward	The depth in Boston means Hayward won't be on our squads	70	51.1	-18.9
87	63.3	-23.7	Dennis Smith Jr.	Percentages are the issue, as well as his knee, but so much talent	138	78	-60
88	146.5	58.5	Mario Hezonja	Should get cut loose in NY; question is what he does with it	79	128.6	49.6
89	82	-7	Jusuf Nurkic	Nurk will get a fair shot at plodding his way to this value.	107	89.8	-17.2
90	126.3	36.3	Dennis Schroder	Needs a serious RW injury to be anything more than this	119	120.2	1.2
91	66.7	-24.3	Luka Doncic	I want to rate him higher but stat set is an issue in places	139	88	-51
92	131	39	Malcolm Brogdon	Last year's injury will keep his price low; solid value	83	121.4	38.4
93	142.7	49.7	Jeremy Lin	If the Hawks manage his minutes he can bring back late round value	129	140.3	11.3
94	55.3	-38.7	Goran Dragic	Heat depth and general deterioration in his stat set are the issues	123	64	-59
95	77	-18	Nicolas Batum	New coach might unlock some things, but it hasn't been good for Batum	118	81.2	-36.8
96	100.7	4.7	Serge Ibaka	This is an easy decline to project	72	83.4	11.4
97	52.7	-44.3	Julius Randle	Great fit for him in New Orleans; but probably going to be overdrafted	155	71.3	-83.7
98	115.3	17.3	Jordan Bell	Role might fluctuate but he was built for fantasy leagues	90	116.3	26.3
99	140.3	41.3	Trevor Ariza	The Suns probably didn't fork over the cash to have him sit	78	115.9	37.9
100	70	-30	Lonzo Ball	Lonzo's value getting attacked by a who's who of things (LBJ/Rondo)	110	64.9	-45.1
101	96.7	-4.3	DeMarcus Cousins	Playoff owners only here. He's going to burn a hole in your roster	102	102.2	0.2
102	107.7	5.7	James Johnson	Groin injury went undetected last season; let's see if he's healthy	98	114.2	16.2
103	91.3	-11.7	Evan Fournier	Safe role, pretty predictable output	121	85.5	-35.5
104	98.7	-5.3	De'Aaron Fox	The Kings can screw this up any number of ways; lotsa talent	159	127	-32
105	194	89	Delon Wright	Should be available on the cheap and will have good floor/upside combo	108	141.9	33.9
106	78.3	-27.7	Jabari Parker	Has shown flashes of upside but this is as high as I can go	114	106.1	-7.9
107	73.7	-33.3	D'Angelo Russell	I just don't think he's a good basketball player. It all filters from there	178	87.2	-90.8
108	200	92	Pascal Siakam	Could be the key to the Toronto frontcourt defense	93	147.5	54.5
109	173.5	64.5	Patrick Beverley	In trade rumors but otherwise he's a nice PG to target late	101	144.7	43.7
110	111	1	J.J. Redick	No real competition he just needs to stay healthy	96	87	-9
111	127.7	16.7	Larry Nance Jr.	Better in 9-cat, where he is the proverbial top-100 play.	94	99.9	5.9
112	139.5	27.5	Dewayne Dedmon	Don't get caught up in the 3s, but he's a nice late round center	95	106.4	11.4
113	54.7	-58.3	Lauri Markkanen	You wonder about a possible leap but this is a healthy enough rank	89	51.9	-37.1
114	104	-10	Brook Lopez	Has some upside if he can somehow luck into bigger minutes	105	82.5	-22.5
115	129.7	14.7	Rudy Gay	SA will get everything they can out of him but obvious risks loom	124	140.6	16.6
116	179	63	Nerlens Noel	We'll see in the preseason if he's being used or not.	111	139.8	28.8
117	164	47	Fred VanVleet	Better suited for deeper leagues where his value can be useful	130	116.6	-13.4
118	137	19	Bogdan Bogdanovic	Knee issues need to be watched. Also: Kangz	126	117.9	-8.1
119	121	2	Thaddeus Young	Thad has a lot of mileage and is a known commodity	92	104.5	12.5
120	76.3	-43.7	Kyle Kuzma	Barring some trades he's going to get squeezed from all angles	103	74.5	-28.5
121	170	49	Jakob Poeltl	Has some nice stat set features; could go higher with injury help	120	134	14
122	158	36	Markieff Morris	Late round plodder with a tiny bit of upside if he's more healthy	131	140.1	9.1
123	99	-24	Eric Gordon	Fair worries about injury risk but HOU needs his production this year	141	101	-40
124	54.3	-69.7	Dwight Howard	Quietly productive the last few seasons. Is what he is.	172	60.3	-111.7
125	200	75	Trey Lyles	Still has those same stat set flaws from his previous overhyped season	99	139.5	40.5
126	73.3	-52.7	Trae Young	It could be very, very ugly but ATL is paper thin and spent to get him	194	104.6	-89.4
127	174	47	Al-Farouq Aminu	No reason to think Aminu slides much from his normal production	100	145.8	45.8
128	155	27	Domantas Sabonis	Late round plodder for deep leagues	158	134.7	-23.3
129	143.5	14.5	Caris LeVert	Should improve this season but BKJ spreads it around	160	143.1	-16.9
130	130	0	Kentavious Caldwell-Pope	Had a nice year but Lakers glut of guards (and LBJ) not helping	115	98	-17
131	93.7	-37.3	Jaylen Brown	Betting on another jump to combat efficiency, Boston depth	137	105.1	-31.9
132	169	37	Montrezl Harrell	It would be a whole lot cooler if he was projected to have more value	109	141.8	32.8
133	96	-37	Rodney Hood	Not built for fantasy leagues but will get chance to score in CLE	147	141.6	-5.4
134	162.3	28.3	George Hill	Not sure CLE will run the precision offense he needs to have value	140	139.2	-0.8
135	136.7	1.7	Avery Bradley	Could get a bump if the Clippers trade Patrick Beverley	153	132.2	-20.8
136	138	2	Danilo Gallinari	Might show out early to establish role; all sorts of risks to value	122	139.1	17.1
137	174.7	37.7	Danny Green	Some role variance could be in store but in the end he's Danny Green	112	138	26
138	111.7	-26.3	T.J. Warren	Should be a bumpy season and a trade isn't favored to help	116	132.6	16.6
139	141.7	2.7	Allen Crabbe	More of the same expected from Crabbe this season	117	104.8	-12.2
140	178	38	E'Twaun Moore	Hard to bet on Moore having as many minutes after 82-game season	125	145.4	20.4
141	158.5	17.5	Marvin Williams	Extremely predictable numbers	97	134.5	37.5
142	125.7	-16.3	Isaiah Thomas	If healthy, he can get it done in few minutes. DEN has plenty of offense	164	120.8	-43.2
143	130	-13	Wesley Matthews	He'll do his thing but it's about DSJ and Doncic this year in DAL	132	147.5	15.5
144	104	-40	Willie Cauley-Stein	As WCS focuses more on offense, his value continues to drop	135	115.6	-19.4
145	90	-55	Wendell Carter	I want to go higher but a slow start will set him back	149	93.8	-55.2
146	156.5	10.5	Bojan Bogdanovic	Late round plodder for deep leagues	134	137.4	3.4
147	71.3	-75.7	Brandon Ingram	Percentage issues and role issues create this type of a ranking	177	90.7	-86.3
148	127	-21	Markelle Fultz	Too many issues to get excited about any upside	191	124.7	-66.3
149	164	15	Kelly Oubre Jr.	Some upside beyond this if any of the core guys gets seriously hurt	128	143.6	15.6
150	135.7	-14.3	Marcus Smart	Too crowded in Boston for Smart to have any real value	189	129.9	-59.1
151	114	-37	Dwight Powell	Powell flashes potential but DeAndre's arrival cools already shaky value	106	200	94
152	157.3	5.3	Pau Gasol	Last year's durability and production hard to bet on again	148	134.8	-13.2
153	182.5	29.5	Alex Len	Theoretically he could get let loose but betting on it is rough	146	141.5	-4.5
154	138.7	-15.3	JaVale McGee	We need to watch his minutes, but maybe there is an increase there	150	114.5	-35.5
155	118.7	-36.3	Taj Gibson	This feels low (Thibs loves him) but Minny is a mess.	133	125.7	-7.3
156	124	-32	Justin Holiday	Won't have the role he ended up having last year	143	124.6	-18.4

8-B150	ADP	+/-	Name	Notes	9-B150	ADP	+/-
157	200	43	Tyus Jones	Has some upside if Butler deal frees him up.	142	200	58
158	114	-44	Reggie Jackson	Owners can do better than this; don't get caught up in starting job	195	133.3	-61.7
159	143.3	-15.7	Dirk Nowitzki	Much more valuable in 9-cat; 20 mpg will probably keep him upright	104	113.6	9.6
160	175	15	Joe Harris	Great player, smart signing, still too crowded in BKY for fantasy value	168	139.7	-28.3
161	157.7	-3.3	DeMarre Carroll	Ran hot early on last year but BKY will be more crowded this year	144	141	-3
162	115.7	-46.3	Jordan Clarkson	Sure, maybe CLE needs him more, but we're not ranking him that way	192	140.4	-51.6
163	122	-41	D.J. Augustin	Will have bursts of standard league value	161	142.8	-18.2
164	144.3	-19.7	Trey Burke	Has Scott Perry support. But he's not gonna have last year's numbers	165	142.5	-22.5
165	107.3	-57.7	Kristaps Porzingis	Playoff owners only here. He's going to burn a hole in your roster	136	117.8	-18.2
166	161.3	-4.7	Josh Hart	He's way better than this rank entails. Hopefully he gets a shot.	154	133.6	-20.4
167	200	33	Marquese Chriss	Yes, there's upside as 'Different Capela.' Can't bet on it right now though	156	140.7	-15.3
168	170	2	Jonathon Simmons	Holes in his stat set and ORL got a bit deeper this year	207	143.4	-63.6
169	200	31	Richaun Holmes	Chriss trade helped move a similar player. Phoenix can easily screw this up	151	200	49
170	180	10	Courtney Lee	Unless he's traded he's a strong bet to finish here	127	140.3	13.3
171	192.5	21.5	JaMychal Green	Rough year last year and a rookie right on his tail. Injury issues?	167	141.1	-25.9
172	115.7	-56.3	Derrick Favors	He could be better than this but I'm still betting against his body	145	133.4	-11.6
173	137.3	-35.7	Marcin Gortat	Change of scenary can't turn back time	170	132.7	-37.3
174	189	15	Ersan Ilyasova	Deep league plodder	173	139.8	-33.2
175	97	-78	Carmelo Anthony	Don't get caught up in the Rockets boost line of thinking	169	102.1	-66.9
176	200	24	T.J. McConnell	Exceeding ADP expectations again, probably	196	200	4
177	200	23	Zach Collins	I want to have him higher but stat set issues weigh him down	198	200	2
178	158	-20	Miles Bridges	Will have trouble producing but looks great as a rook.	199	200	1
179	124.5	-54.5	Jerami Grant	This might be his best season, but still hard to get behind	157	131.7	-25.3
180	112	-68	Terry Rozier	He needs a trade to hit the standard league radar	152	126.1	-25.9
181	140	-41	Ish Smith	This is where he lands in his typical Pistons role	175	200	25
182	200	18	Shai Gilgeous-Alexander	I will move him up as Beverley trade rumors heat up	193	142.8	-50.2
183	200	17	Moe Harkless	Might be better than this but last year's struggles were instructive	163	200	37
184	115	-69	Josh Jackson	Percentages, Percentages, Percentages (said like Steve Ballmer)	218	132.7	-85.3
185	147	-38	P.J. Tucker	Deep league plodder	174	135.8	-38.2
186	156.7	-29.3	Tyler Johnson	Same story for Johnson - good player but too many bodies in MIA	166	137.6	-28.4
187	109.3	-77.7	Kevin Knox	Some stat set issues but plenty of opportunity this season.	225	126.9	-98.1
188	179	-9	Bam Adebayo	Needs to do more on the defensive side to have any real value	186	137.7	-48.3
189	200	11	Patty Mills	Will pick up a good amount of slack for DM but still a deep leaguer	162	200	38
190	200	10	Mitchell Robinson	If he can play at all then he'll stay in these B150 ranks.	182	142.6	-39.4
191	142	-49	J.J. Barea	More of a wire pickup when other players are hurt	219	149	-70
192	182.5	-9.5	O.G. Anunoby	It's not happening for Anunoby this year	184	137.8	-46.2
193	200	7	Terrence Ross	You've seen this movie before	188	200	12
194	137	-57	Mason Plumlee	You can do better	211	200	-11
195	200	5	Jerian Grant	Grant could get serious minutes but can he do anything with them	200	149.1	-50.9
196	176	-20	Marcus Morris	Going to get squeezed in Boston	187	135.1	-51.9
197	121.3	-75.7	Rajon Rondo	Only on the radar if Lonzo gets hurt or seriously benched	223	130.5	-92.5
198	166	-32	Patty Mills	Predictable asset with slight role enhancement this season	204	136.3	-67.7
199	200	1	Wayne Ellington	For deeper leagues	171	145.8	-25.2
200	155	-45	Marco Belinelli	For deeper leagues	201	143.4	-57.6
201	200	-1	Reggie Bullock	Even if he shoots the shit out of it again he'll struggle to gain traction	176	145.4	-30.6
202	200	-2	Willy Hernangomez	Stuck in logjam but has shown upside in the past	197	142.9	-54.1
203	200	-3	Cody Zeller	Emerging as the top reality center so far in Charlotte	181	200	19
204	200	-4	Mike Muscala	Versatile enough to be on the deep league radar	180	200	20
205	200	-5	Derrick White	We'll watch for stat set stuff but we like him here.	209	200	-9
206	200	-6	Mikal Bridges	Stuck behind logjams but has a Khris Middleton-like stat set	203	146.2	-56.8
207	200	-7	David Nwaba	Needs work on his stat set but still improving on a bad team	213	200	-13
208	130.3	-77.7	Mohamed Bamba	I don't care about the shooting, which will hinder him. It's the boards	216	112.8	-103.2
209	200	-9	Collin Sexton	Not enough statistical juice to bet big on a big value haul.	229	133.2	-95.8
210	200	-10	Gorgui Dieng	Thibs future? I might move him higher as the Wolves drama plays out.	208	200	-8
211	200	-11	Skal Labissiere	What if the Kings don't mess it up? I know, right ...	205	200	-5
212	200	-12	Cedi Osman	Real stat set problems but CLE probably wants to give him minutes	220	141.7	-78.3
213	200	-13	Kevon Looney	He needs clarity of role to really jump into the standard league scene	222	200	-22
214	176	-38	John Henson	Could see his role yanked around with arrival of Brook Lopez	230	200	-30
215	193.5	-21.5	Ryan Anderson	Contract aside, has UTR improved his quickness, will help PHO	183	138.9	-44.1
216	200	200	Davis Bertans	Deep sleeper in San Antonio. If the bigs go down pick him up	185	200	15

8-B150	ADP	+/-	Name	Notes	9-B150	ADP	+/-
2	2	0	Anthony Davis	Upside beyond this but there's a price to pay for risk, possible drama	1	2.2	1.2
4	7.3	3.3	Karl-Anthony Towns	Drama in Minnesota pending this is where he goes	2	5.9	3.9
3	7.3	4.3	Stephen Curry	Sliding in drafts after sliding for two years. Time for a regression.	3	5.2	2.2
1	2.3	1.3	James Harden	Is there a such thing as a boring No. 1 8-cat pick?	4	1.6	-2.4
5	6	1	Kevin Durant	Only concern is chemistry; KD didn't have great playoffs despite MVP	5	5.7	0.7
7	11.7	4.7	Kawhi Leonard	Rating him as mostly the same guy; year off in athletic prime a mess	6	12.5	6.5
6	2.7	-3.3	Giannis Antetokounmpo	Would be nice to see another gear, especially on defensive side	7	3.6	-3.4
11	10	-1	Damian Lillard	You worry about things starting to break down/slow down for Dame.	8	10.1	2.1
8	3	-5	LeBron James	When LeBron wants to he can still climb (see last season)	9	5	-4
9	17	8	Victor Oladipo	Emerging superstar exploring his ceiling still	10	12.4	2.4
13	8.3	-4.7	Nikola Jokic	DEN has capable and emerging players, maybe full season of Millsap	11	9	-2
12	18	6	Paul George	Some upside beyond this if RW declines and PG needs to step up	12	13.5	1.5
15	25.3	10.3	Jrue Holiday	Emerging into one of the league's top guards	13	23.1	10.1
16	22.7	6.7	Chris Paul	The upside isn't quite there and HOU will throttle back again this year	14	17.3	3.3
10	7	-3	Russell Westbrook	The knee is probably okay, but game built on explosion a concern	15	9.1	-5.9
17	19	2	Kyrie Irving	If anything, last season's caution with injuries helped keep miles off.	16	17.3	1.3
14	15.7	1.7	Joel Embiid	For Embiid it's all about the blocks and if he regains his nastiness	17	16.8	-0.2
22	21	-1	Kemba Walker	I worry a bit about his knee but production-wise he's safe as it gets	18	16.2	-1.8
19	33.7	14.7	Khris Middleton	Plenty in the tank, consistent and still scratching some upside	19	29.2	10.2
24	20	-4	Jimmy Butler	Drama in Minnesota pending this is where he goes	20	23.7	3.7
40	58.3	18.3	Otto Porter	Game doesn't rely on excess touches; I'm still worried about the hip	21	34.8	13.8
33	41	8	Clint Capela	He'll improve again this year but the market has caught up	22	36	14
29	48.7	19.7	Deandre Ayton	Ayton looks more than competent to cash in on the PHO situation.	23	64.6	41.6
27	24	-3	DeMar DeRozan	Similar fit as Kawhi had in SA, he'll run iso offense similarly	24	32.2	8.2
31	27.3	-3.7	Kevin Love	Not quite Minnesota Love, but volume isn't going to be a problem	25	31.6	6.6
18	23	5	Devin Booker	Hand injury aside, he has been given the keys to the franchise	26	25.6	-0.4
35	81.3	46.3	Enes Kanter	The Knicks need him and he's pretty easy to peg nowadays	27	81.2	54.2
36	32	-4	Rudy Gobert	I worry about his explosion and declines in areas he's valuable	28	26.5	-1.5
38	74	36	Gary Harris	Can he be underrated again this year? Probably	29	47.9	18.9
30	36	6	Marc Gasol	Grinded thru pointless season - a good sign he might do it again	30	37	7
25	28.3	3.3	Draymond Green	He needs to re-energize his steals rate and keep improving efficiency	31	29.9	-1.1
26	46	20	Eric Bledsoe	You might not like his game but he established his value last season	32	43.2	11.2
32	18	-14	Andre Drummond	Fit next to Blake, FT questions of course. Last year he crushed	33	24.9	-8.1
46	63	17	Myles Turner	We'll be watching closely to see if he's not fat this season	34	44	10
28	18.7	-9.3	Kyle Lowry	Fit next to Kawhi and Toronto depth two reasons to fade him a bit	35	26.1	-8.9
20	13	-7	Ben Simmons	Lotsa variance in outcomes not just for him, but Sixers as a whole	36	15.6	-20.4
23	21.3	-1.7	Donovan Mitchell	Future MVP candidate can climb higher; but this includes improvement	37	17.5	-19.5
52	88.3	36.3	Nikola Mirotic	Can go higher than this; just needs to stay healthy and it's his	38	70	32
45	32	-13	C.J. McCollum	The super tight shooting in his breakout year appears to be outlier	39	30.8	-8.2
43	36.7	-6.3	Klay Thompson	If he can get back to the foul line there's upside beyond this	40	28.5	-11.5
34	26	-8	Bradley Beal	More Wall this season will etch away at his value	41	22.2	-18.8
42	56	14	John Collins	How high can he go? So much (deserved) hype, profit margins be damned	42	50.8	8.8
48	63.3	15.3	Hassan Whiteside	So many question marks; he could drift lower than this	43	72.8	29.8
21	16	-5	John Wall	A lot to prove this year as an elite player; lotsa question marks in WAS	44	23.7	-20.3
51	48	-3	Al Horford	Loaded roster isn't helping him in the upside department	45	44.3	-0.7
56	50	-6	Tobias Harris	A trendy name and a fairly safe mid-round play; profit margin issues	46	37.4	-8.6
57	30	-27	LaMarcus Aldridge	One of the luckiest picks of last season. An entire season as the guy	47	35.4	-11.6
54	78.3	24.3	Jonas Valanciunas	I'm not sensing massive breakout but he can plod his way to this	48	76	28
55	93	38	Robert Covington	As official founders of Covington's bandwagon, we just wanted to brag a bit	49	56.2	7.2
47	53.3	6.3	Nikola Vucevic	A trade could hurt him but he's also fairly consistent	50	58	8
49	66.3	17.3	Will Barton	Paid to be what he was last season	51	62.5	11.5
44	45.3	1.3	Mike Conley	One had to suspect that MEM would use kid gloves last season	52	48.9	-3.1
37	116	79	Taurean Prince	The B150 said 41 last season and he finished 45. Drops microphone	53	63	10
59	99	40	Josh Richardson	Great year and he handled it last year, but Miami is crowded again	54	64.1	10.1
39	69	30	Jamal Murray	Competition for touches will keep him efficient	55	42.8	-12.2
50	99	49	Joe Ingles	B150 had Joe at 60 last year. Everybody else had him at 120.	56	60.4	4.4
63	40.7	-22.3	Jayson Tatum	His ADP is high for the wrong reasons; but stat set supports value	57	44.3	-12.7
41	85.3	44.3	Kris Dunn	Defensive production is most of what we care about here	58	86	28
64	124	60	Jeremy Lamb	An HB favorite; can go higher than this	59	145.4	86.4
65	130	65	Buddy Hield	The Kings can screw this up any number of ways; great shooting stats	60	92.8	32.8
58	80.3	22.3	Dario Saric	Does a lot for the Sixers and might finally get recognized this year	61	79.8	18.8
66	104	38	Kyle Anderson	Was great last year but new fit means some variance potential	62	91.3	29.3
76	92	16	Jarrett Allen	The preseason hype has created a risk/profit margin situation	63	58.1	-4.9
53	71	18	Jeff Teague	Teague/Thibs might be worth watching after Teague spoke up last year	64	64.9	0.9
67	136.7	69.7	Jonathan Isaac	Has untold fantasy upside.	65	104.4	39.4
82	98	16	Darren Collison	It's not about volume with Collison, who could cruise again this year	66	80	14
84	61.7	-22.3	Harrison Barnes	Probably the most boring fantasy play in the game today	67	72.6	5.6
69	51	-18	Aaron Gordon	Moving away from the hoop not good for Gordon	68	42.8	-25.2
71	164.3	93.3	Bobby Portis	Flaws in the stat set but he's going to plod his way to value	69	140.2	71.2
86	41.3	-44.7	Gordon Hayward	The depth in Boston means Hayward won't be on our squads	70	51.1	-18.9
60	63	3	Zach LaVine	He wants to be the No. 1 and will probably be healthy enough for it	71	65.8	-5.2
96	100.7	4.7	Serge Ibaka	This is an easy decline to project	72	83.4	11.4
75	102.7	27.7	Rondae Hollis-Jefferson	Injuries the only concern; he has taken a beating at PF	73	123.7	50.7
83	82.3	-0.7	Tim Hardaway Jr.	Injury concerns are fair; but stat set issues hold him back a bit anyway	74	77.1	3.1
62	48.3	-13.7	Lou Williams	We're not getting full Lou Williams this season (I don't think)	75	57.4	-17.6
79	147.7	68.7	Spencer Dinwiddie	He's better than DAR but muddy depth chart could hold him back	76	139.7	63.7

8-B150	ADP	+/-	Name	Notes	9-B150	ADP	+/-
78	146.7	68.7	Kelly Olynyk	B150 had him at 83 last year, other sites 140, finished at 63	77	127.8	50.8
99	140.3	41.3	Trevor Ariza	The Suns probably didn't fork over the cash to have him sit	78	115.9	37.9
88	146.5	58.5	Mario Hezonja	Should get cut loose in NY; question is what he does with it	79	128.6	49.6
85	46.3	-38.7	DeAndre Jordan	Block rate showed an overweight player lacking explosion last year	80	52	-28
74	96.7	22.7	Tyreke Evans	Finally found a shot. Lower minutes will help keep him upright	81	100	19
61	35.3	-25.7	Blake Griffin	This is high and I might bring it back if I don't see a focus on efficiency	82	42.4	-39.6
92	131	39	Malcolm Brogdon	Last year's injury will keep his price low; solid value	83	121.4	38.4
70	80	10	Steven Adams	You worry about the physical pounding he's taken but this is safe	84	71.8	-12.2
72	53.7	-18.3	Paul Millsap	A lot of reasons to fade Millsap this season (age/miles/production)	85	61.1	-23.9
77	132	55	Jaren Jackson	Has some stat set issues but has a nice floor for a rookie	86	100.6	14.6
81	58.7	-22.3	Andrew Wiggins	Drama in Minnesota pending this is where he goes	87	81.3	-5.7
80	137.7	57.7	Kent Bazemore	One of the better players on a really bad team.	88	128.2	40.2
113	54.7	-58.3	Lauri Markkanen	You wonder about a possible leap but this is a healthy enough rank	89	51.9	-37.1
98	115.3	17.3	Jordan Bell	Role might fluctuate but he was built for fantasy leagues	90	116.3	26.3
73	81.7	8.7	Elfrid Payton	Can be better than this but that presumes he can earn starter's mins	91	117.2	26.2
119	121	2	Thaddeus Young	Thad has a lot of mileage and is a known commodity	92	104.5	12.5
108	200	92	Pascal Siakam	Could be the key to the Toronto frontcourt defense	93	147.5	54.5
111	127.7	16.7	Larry Nance Jr.	Better in 9-cat, where he is the proverbial top-100 play.	94	99.9	5.9
112	139.5	27.5	Dewayne Dedmon	Don't get caught up in the 3s, but he's a nice late round center	95	106.4	11.4
110	111	1	J.J. Redick	No real competition he just needs to stay healthy	96	87	-9
141	158.5	17.5	Marvin Williams	Extremely predictable numbers	97	134.5	37.5
102	107.7	5.7	James Johnson	Groin injury went undetected last season; let's see if he's healthy	98	114.2	16.2
125	200	75	Trey Lyles	Still has those same stat set flaws from his previous overhyped season	99	139.5	40.5
127	174	47	Al-Farouq Aminu	No reason to think Aminu slides much from his normal production	100	145.8	45.8
109	173.5	64.5	Patrick Beverley	In trade rumors but otherwise he's a nice PG to target late	101	144.7	43.7
101	96.7	-4.3	DeMarcus Cousins	Playoff owners only here. He's going to burn a hole in your roster	102	102.2	0.2
120	76.3	-43.7	Kyle Kuzma	Barring some trades he's going to get squeezed from all angles	103	74.5	-28.5
159	143.3	-15.7	Dirk Nowitzki	Much more valuable in 9-cat; 20 mpg will probably keep him upright	104	113.6	9.6
114	104	-10	Brook Lopez	Has some upside if he can somehow luck into bigger minutes	105	82.5	-22.5
151	114	-37	Dwight Powell	Powell flashes potential but DeAndre's arrival cools already shaky value	106	200	94
89	82	-7	Jusuf Nurkic	Nurk will get a fair shot at plodding his way to this value.	107	89.8	-17.2
105	194	89	Delon Wright	Should be available on the cheap and will have good floor/upside combo	108	141.9	33.9
132	169	37	Montrezl Harrell	It would be a whole lot cooler if he was projected to have more value	109	141.8	32.8
100	70	-30	Lonzo Ball	Lonzo's value getting attacked by a who's who of things (LBJ/Rondo)	110	64.9	-45.1
116	179	63	Nerlens Noel	We'll see in the preseason if he's being used or not.	111	139.8	28.8
137	174.7	37.7	Danny Green	Some role variance could be in store but in the end he's Danny Green	112	138	26
68	55	-13	Ricky Rubio	A safer mid-round PG that will produce if healthy	113	60.4	-52.6
106	78.3	-27.7	Jabari Parker	Has shown flashes of upside but this is as high as I can go	114	106.1	-7.9
130	130	0	Kentavious Caldwell-Pope	Had a nice year but Lakers glut of guards (and LBJ) not helping	115	98	-17
138	111.7	-26.3	T.J. Warren	Should be a bumpy season and a trade isn't favored to help	116	132.6	16.6
139	141.7	2.7	Allen Crabbe	More of the same expected from Crabbe this season	117	104.8	-12.2
95	77	-18	Nicolas Batum	New coach might unlock some things, but it hasn't been good for Batum	118	81.2	-36.8
90	126.3	36.3	Dennis Schroder	Needs a serious RW injury to be anything more than this	119	120.2	1.2
121	170	49	Jakob Poeltl	Has some nice stat set features; could go higher with injury help	120	134	14
103	91.3	-11.7	Evan Fournier	Safe role, pretty predictable output	121	85.5	-35.5
136	138	2	Danilo Gallinari	Might show out early to establish role; all sorts of risks to value	122	139.1	17.1
94	55.3	-38.7	Goran Dragic	Heat depth and general deterioration in his stat set are the issues	123	64	-59
115	129.7	14.7	Rudy Gay	SA will get everything they can out of him but obvious risks loom	124	140.6	16.6
140	178	38	E'Twaun Moore	Hard to bet on Moore having as many minutes after 82-game season	125	145.4	20.4
118	137	19	Bogdan Bogdanovic	Knee issues need to be watched. Also: Kangz	126	117.9	-8.1
170	180	10	Courtney Lee	Unless he's traded he's a strong bet to finish here	127	140.3	13.3
149	164	15	Kelly Oubre Jr.	Some upside beyond this if any of the core guys gets seriously hurt	128	143.6	15.6
93	142.7	49.7	Jeremy Lin	If the Hawks manage his minutes he can bring back late round value	129	140.3	11.3
117	164	47	Fred VanVleet	Better suited for deeper leagues where his value can be useful	130	116.6	-13.4
122	158	36	Markieff Morris	Late round plodder with a tiny bit of upside if he's more healthy	131	140.1	9.1
143	130	-13	Wesley Matthews	He'll do his thing but it's about DSJ and Doncic this year in DAL	132	147.5	15.5
155	118.7	-36.3	Taj Gibson	This feels low (Thibs loves him) but Minny is a mess.	133	125.7	-7.3
146	156.5	10.5	Bojan Bogdanovic	Late round plodder for deep leagues	134	137.4	3.4
144	104	-40	Willie Cauley-Stein	As WCS focuses more on offense, his value continues to drop	135	115.6	-19.4
165	107.3	-57.7	Kristaps Porzingis	Playoff owners only here. He's going to burn a hole in your roster	136	117.8	-18.2
131	93.7	-37.3	Jaylen Brown	Betting on another jump to combat efficiency, Boston depth	137	105.1	-31.9
87	63.3	-23.7	Dennis Smith Jr.	Percentages are the issue, as well as his knee, but so much talent	138	78	-60
91	66.7	-24.3	Luka Doncic	I want to rate him higher but stat set is an issue in places	139	88	-51
134	162.3	28.3	George Hill	Not sure CLE will run the precision offense he needs to have value	140	139.2	-0.8
123	99	-24	Eric Gordon	Fair worries about injury risk but HOU needs his production this year	141	101	-40
157	200	43	Tyus Jones	Has some upside if Butler deal frees him up.	142	200	58
156	124	-32	Justin Holiday	Won't have the role he ended up having last year	143	124.6	-18.4
161	157.7	-3.3	DeMarre Carroll	Ran hot early on last year but BKY will be more crowded this year	144	141	-3
172	115.7	-56.3	Derrick Favors	He could be better than this but I'm still betting against his body	145	133.4	-11.6
153	182.5	29.5	Alex Len	Theoretically he could get let loose but betting on it is rough	146	141.5	-4.5
133	96	-37	Rodney Hood	Not built for fantasy leagues but will get chance to score in CLE	147	141.6	-5.4
152	157.3	5.3	Pau Gasol	Last year's durability and production hard to bet on again	148	134.8	-13.2
145	90	-55	Wendell Carter	I want to go higher but a slow start will set him back	149	93.8	-55.2
154	138.7	-15.3	JaVale McGee	We need to watch his minutes, but maybe there is an increase there	150	114.5	-35.5
169	200	31	Richaun Holmes	Chriss trade helped move a similar player. Phoenix can easily screw this up	151	200	49
180	112	-68	Terry Rozier	He needs a trade to hit the standard league radar	152	126.1	-25.9

8-B150	ADP	+/-	Name	Notes	9-B150	ADP	+/-
135	136.7	1.7	Avery Bradley	Could get a bump if the Clippers trade Patrick Beverley	153	132.2	-20.8
166	161.3	-4.7	Josh Hart	He's way better than this rank entails. Hopefully he gets a shot.	154	133.6	-20.4
97	52.7	-44.3	Julius Randle	Great fit for him in New Orleans; but probably going to be overdrafted	155	71.3	-83.7
167	200	33	Marquese Chriss	Yes, there's upside as 'Different Capela.' Can't bet on it right now though	156	140.7	-15.3
179	124.5	-54.5	Jerami Grant	This might be his best season, but still hard to get behind	157	131.7	-25.3
128	155	27	Domantas Sabonis	Late round plodder for deep leagues	158	134.7	-23.3
104	98.7	-5.3	De'Aaron Fox	The Kings can screw this up any number of ways; lotsa talent	159	127	-32
129	143.5	14.5	Caris LeVert	Should improve this season but BKY spreads it around	160	143.1	-16.9
163	122	-41	D.J. Augustin	Will have bursts of standard league value	161	142.8	-18.2
189	200	11	Patty Mills	Will pick up a good amount of slack for DM but still a deep leaguer	162	200	38
183	200	17	Moe Harkless	Might be better than this but last year's struggles were instructive	163	200	37
142	125.7	-16.3	Isaiah Thomas	If healthy, he can get it done in few minutes. DEN has plenty of offense	164	120.8	-43.2
164	144.3	-19.7	Trey Burke	Has Scott Perry support. But he's not gonna have last year's numbers	165	142.5	-22.5
186	156.7	-29.3	Tyler Johnson	Same story for Johnson - good player but too many bodies in MIA	166	137.6	-28.4
171	192.5	21.5	JaMychal Green	Rough year last year and a rookie right on his tail. Injury issues?	167	141.1	-25.9
160	175	15	Joe Harris	Great player, smart signing, still too crowded in BKY for fantasy value	168	139.7	-28.3
175	97	-78	Carmelo Anthony	Don't get caught up in the Rockets boost line of thinking	169	102.1	-66.9
173	137.3	-35.7	Marcin Gortat	Change of scenery can't turn back time	170	132.7	-37.3
199	200	1	Wayne Ellington	For deeper leagues	171	145.8	-25.2
124	54.3	-69.7	Dwight Howard	Quietly productive the last few seasons. Is what he is.	172	60.3	-111.7
174	189	15	Ersan Ilyasova	Deep league plodder	173	139.8	-33.2
185	147	-38	P.J. Tucker	Deep league plodder	174	135.8	-38.2
181	140	-41	Ish Smith	This is where he lands in his typical Pistons role	175	200	25
201	200	-1	Reggie Bullock	Even if he shoots the shit out of it again he'll struggle to gain traction	176	145.4	-30.6
147	71.3	-75.7	Brandon Ingram	Percentage issues and role issues create this type of a ranking	177	90.7	-86.3
107	73.7	-33.3	D'Angelo Russell	I just don't think he's a good basketball player. It all filters from there	178	87.2	-90.8
204	200	-4	Mike Muscala	Versatile enough to be on the deep league radar	180	200	20
203	200	-3	Cody Zeller	Emerging as the top reality center so far in Charlotte	181	200	19
190	200	10	Mitchell Robinson	If he can play at all then he'll stay in these B150 ranks.	182	142.6	-39.4
215	193.5	-21.5	Ryan Anderson	Contract aside, has UTR improved his quickness, will help PHO	183	138.9	-44.1
192	182.5	-9.5	O.G. Anunoby	It's not happening for Anunoby this year	184	137.8	-46.2
216	200	200	Davis Bertans	Deep sleeper in San Antonio. If the bigs go down pick him up	185	200	15
188	179	-9	Bam Adebayo	Needs to do more on the defensive side to have any real value	186	137.7	-48.3
196	176	-20	Marcus Morris	Going to get squeezed in Boston	187	135.1	-51.9
193	200	7	Terrence Ross	You've seen this movie before	188	200	12
150	135.7	-14.3	Marcus Smart	Too crowded in Boston for Smart to have any real value	189	129.9	-59.1
148	127	-21	Markelle Fultz	Too many issues to get excited about any upside	191	124.7	-66.3
162	115.7	-46.3	Jordan Clarkson	Sure, maybe CLE needs him more, but we're not ranking him that way	192	140.4	-51.6
182	200	18	Shai Gilgeous-Alexander	I will move him up as Beverley trade rumors heat up	193	142.8	-50.2
126	73.3	-52.7	Trae Young	It could be very, very ugly but ATL is paper thin and spent to get him	194	104.6	-89.4
158	114	-44	Reggie Jackson	Owners can do better than this; don't get caught up in starting job	195	133.3	-61.7
176	200	24	T.J. McConnell	Exceeding ADP expectations again, probably	196	200	4
202	200	-2	Willy Hernangomez	Stuck in logjam but has shown upside in the past	197	142.9	-54.1
177	200	23	Zach Collins	I want to have him higher but stat set issues weigh him down	198	200	2
178	158	-20	Miles Bridges	Will have trouble producing but looks great as a rook.	199	200	1
195	200	5	Jerian Grant	Grant could get serious minutes but can he do anything with them	200	149.1	-50.9
200	155	-45	Marco Belinelli	For deeper leagues	201	143.4	-57.6
206	200	-6	Mikal Bridges	Stuck behind logjams but has a Khris Middleton-like stat set	203	146.2	-56.8
198	166	-32	Patty Mills	Predictable asset with slight role enhancement this season	204	136.3	-67.7
211	200	-11	Skal Labissiere	What if the Kings don't mess it up? I know, right ...	205	200	-5
168	170	2	Jonathon Simmons	Holes in his stat set and ORL got a bit deeper this year	207	143.4	-63.6
210	200	-10	Gorgui Dieng	Thibs future? I might move him higher as the Wolves drama plays out.	208	200	-8
205	200	-5	Derrick White	We'll watch for stat set stuff but we like him here.	209	200	-9
194	137	-57	Mason Plumlee	You can do better	211	200	-11
207	200	-7	David Nwaba	Needs work on his stat set but still improving on a bad team	213	200	-13
208	130.3	-77.7	Mohamed Bamba	I don't care about the shooting, which will hinder him. It's the boards	216	112.8	-103.2
184	115	-69	Josh Jackson	Percentages, Percentages, Percentages (said like Steve Ballmer)	218	132.7	-85.3
191	142	-49	J.J. Barea	More of a wire pickup when other players are hurt	219	149	-70
212	200	-12	Cedi Osman	Real stat set problems but CLE probably wants to give him minutes	220	141.7	-78.3
213	200	-13	Kevon Looney	He needs clarity of role to really jump into the standard league scene	222	200	-22
197	121.3	-75.7	Rajon Rondo	Only on the radar if Lonzo gets hurt or seriously benched	223	130.5	-92.5
187	109.3	-77.7	Kevin Knox	Some stat set issues but plenty of opportunity this season.	225	126.9	-98.1
209	200	-9	Collin Sexton	Not enough statistical juice to bet big on a big value haul.	229	133.2	-95.8
214	176	-38	John Henson	Could see his role yanked around with arrival of Brook Lopez	230	200	-30